

SO WHY AM I ENDORSING THE ELANRA THERAPEUTIC IONISER?

BY DUNCAN ROADS

In March 2001, I achieved my dream of visiting the mystery sites of Egypt. The trip was made even more special by the small group of 30 people drawn from several countries, and by the fact that it was lead by John Anthony West.

Among this diverse international group of travellers was Joshua Shaw and his wife, Nina, who own a company called Bionic Products, based on the Gold Coast in Queensland. Josh is the inventor and patent holder of the Elanra Therapeutic Ioniser, which has been advertised in NEXUS many times over the years.

Now, any experienced traveller to Africa, SE Asia, the Indian subcontinent, South America etc will warn you of the 'bug', known under various names, such as "Bali Belly"; "Montezuma's Revenge"; "Delhi Belly"; "Pharaoh's Revenge" etc etc.

Basically, it is the result of ingesting tiny micro-organisms in the gut, which cause the body's immune system to work overtime in terms of eliminating toxins. These microorganisms can be killed (along with all the good gut flora) with chemical poisons (antibiotics), or they can be selectively killed with an increase in oxygen levels in the body's fluids and tissues.

Josh and Nina had brought along their portable version of the Elanra ioniser, and not only were they the only ones NOT to get sick, but when they kindly loaned it to others with the bug, they soon recovered! Those on the special tablets we were given for such bugs, remained glued to the toilet. I was most impressed, and naturally I learned a lot more about the device. The more I learned, the more impressed I became.

I do not do advertorials for just anyone, as you will have noticed! This truly is an outstanding device. Indeed it is the only device out there to have an endorsement from the esteemed Bob Beck (of the Beck Zapper fame).

Let us now explore the primary benefits gained by using the Elanra.

Increased Oxygenation

Oxygen therapies is a subject covered by NEXUS Magazine starting over 10 years ago. We have run many, many articles exploring the startling health benefits resulting from the increase in oxygen levels in the blood and tissues. (In 1992 NEXUS even paid for the world's leading researcher into oxygen therapies, Ed McCabe, to fly to Australia to display documentation of people cured of AIDS and cancer via oxygen therapies.)

Nearly all microorganisms in the body which are 'harmful' depend on low levels of oxygen. Increase the oxygen levels, and most viruses, funguses, and other parasitic organisms die off.

The delivery methods for increasing oxygen levels in the body, as reported in NEXUS Magazine include:

1) Hydrogen Peroxide. Note, this has to be Food Grade (or better); you have to know when to take it (ie not after meals); you have to know how to store, dilute and handle it. It is very dangerous if used wrongly. But as testimonies from readers revealed, it worked wonders, and is still used widely.

2) Stabilised Electrolytes of Oxygen. Various formulas designed for oral ingestion, some relying on the stomach acid for activation are still available today. Indeed many users still report amazing results.

3) Ozone Therapy. The introduction of ozone gas into the blood, either directly, or via minor autohemotherapy. Ozone has been also used successfully to 'wash' blood that has been stored. The results from this are stunning!

4) Hyperbaric Oxygen Therapy. Getting oxygen into the blood by using atmospheric pressure.

5) The Buteyko Method. Used as a 'management tool' for asthma (not allowed to say 'cure'). This, in a nutshell, causes the body to change the speed of its breathing. This causes a change in the ratio of dissolved carbon dioxide to oxygen in the blood, resulting in increased availability of blood oxygen.

Each time we published articles on various types of oxygenation, reader response was massive. We have lost count of the people who claim that they cured themselves of cancer, herpes, candida and a myriad of other diseases, all by increasing their oxygen levels.

So what?

Although I had been aware of the Elanra Therapeutic Ioniser for many years, I had always mentally categorised it as a negative ion generator—and that was it. To be honest, I didn't even really know exactly what negative ions were or how they interacted with the human body.

To cut a long story short, I want to tell you that this machine is THE ONLY patented device out there which makes negative ions of OXYGEN! This means, that with one of these devices sitting in your office or bedroom, you are able to increase your oxygen levels safely and comfortably—by simply breathing!

And by the way, as a fringe benefit, the Elanra also literally cleans the air, eliminating odours, germs, fungi, moulds etc etc, making the room smell and 'feel' cleaner.

I have two in our bedroom, my children have one each in their rooms, and I have them in our office - because they work!

Every health-practitioner's waiting room should have one of these devices. They would improve the health of people waiting, as well as kill germs and bacteria coughed and spluttered by those waiting.

The Elanra is the ONLY device I know of that generates negative ions of oxygen. There are already several smart rip-offs trying to cash in on the genuine health benefits of the Elanra. One such rip-off is even stealing the research paid for by Bionic Products!

But Wait - There's More!

Now any ordinary inventor may have stopped just there. A device that safely and effectively produces negative ions of oxygen is an achievement in itself! But Josh went a step further. The Elanra creates small negative ions by accelerating the electrons via the advanced microprocessor controlled circuitry to 1.9cm2/Vs. By using the microprocessor to switch the production of small ions, on and off, a frequency could be established, and by programming the microprocessor, could produce frequencies that had proven beneficial effects on the human body.

One such frequency is the Schumann Resonance (7.83Hz), which lies on the border between the alpha and theta waves of the brain. The Elanra has a very large range of such frequencies to choose from as settings for the machine, depending on your needs, ie specific health problems, or sleep, dream, brain-wave changes.

I have sighted the results of scientific tests conducted by Japanese scientists. Within two seconds of the Elanra being switched on, the brain (1m away) switched to match the Schumann Resonance! The implications of this alone warrant an article in NEXUS!

If you require more specific information on any of the above, may I suggest you visit the website of Bionic Products Pty Ltd.

Meanwhile, if you pick up the telephone and dial (toll-free of course) it is quite likely that Josh or Nina will answer the phone themselves, and will be happy to tell you more.

1-800-074-844

And if you find yourself deciding to purchase one the two devices available, mention the words "NEXUS Discount" and Josh will throw in a spare set of needles.

And finally—as publisher and editor of NEXUS Magazine, I am proud to be able to provide advertising space for many exceptional products. The Elanra Therapeutic Ioniser is truly one such exceptional device, and I have no hesitation to add my own name to the list of more-than-satisfied customers.
